About Khajuraho

Aptly called Madhya Pradesh, the state is truly central to India. It isn't only the awesome size of the topography but rather its marble rocks to magnificent forts to the spine tingling Chambal ravines to the myriad dense wildlife sanctuaries, waterfalls, and hills stations Madhya Pradesh has it all.

Khajuraho is situated in the north central province of Madhya Pradesh. The place would have been nondescript but for the group of Hindu, Buddhist and Jain temples in and around it, that have endowed it with International fame and recognition.

Although the Khajuraho temples are the prime attraction of the area, something else.

As the sun sets against the silhouette of the shockingly beautiful temples, a warm glow embraces a small town with still and languid lakes. It is only a gentle breeze that reminds you that you are still awake. Khajuraho is a bit of a paradox.
